入門 L2 - 18	在留カード Residence Card	Each foreign resident who wishes to stay in Japan for over three months, and more importantly for working in Japan, is issued a 'Residence Card' upon arrival from their respective airports where they have landed. Each person is first required to get their Landing Permission approved from the Immigration office. However, if you do not receive your residence card from the airport for any reason, you must submit a "Moving-in Notification" to the municipal office where you live. After that, your Residence Card will be delivered to your house by mail.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Visa and Landing Permission • Residence card information
入門 L4 - 22	年齢を聞く Asking a person's age	The Chinese Zodiac is also used to represent and understand the personality traits of the person under the birth animal. This is because each character represents a certain set of distinct traits which may or may not be overlapping with the other Zodiac signs. This may also be used to determine the compatibility between individuals.	x
入門 L4 - 23	日本の海 The seas of Japan	Some beaches in Okinawa have beautiful star shaped sand!	Starry sand
入門 L5 - 29	日本の食べ物もの (刺身と寿司／天ぷら ／うどんとそば／カレー) Japanese food (Sashimi and Sushi / Tempura / Udon and Soba / Curry)	Have you ever eaten sushi from any local shops in your area, not necessarily in Japan? Nowadays, many local and international variations of sushi can be found around the area we live in. We have California roll which is a kind of an American take on sushi, purely vegetarian sushi which will contain no non-vegetarian food items, etc.	x

入門 L5 - 32	うな丼 Una-don (eel bowl)	Eel is called “ Unagi ” in Japanese, and these days because of its decreasing population, it has become a delicacy. But from many years ago, Japanese people have been eating eels during the mid-summer timing, roughly around the middle of July to August. It is believed that the high nutrient content in eels helps in increasing stamina to battle the hot and humid Japanese summer heat. Do try an Una-don on your next visit to Japan!	x
入門 L9 - 20	映画を見る Watching a film	Print media is so prevalent in Japan that they still use amazing quality film pamphlets to promote any of the films. This has a deep rooted history which dates back to World War II times. At that time these pamphlets were free of charge but due to scarcity of paper, they soon were distributed on a chargeable basis. These were the days when DVDs or even the internet did not exist, so reminiscing on a film only meant looking at these physical pamphlets. Thus, this pamphlet culture became a trend and it still is well received in these digital times too. The pamphlets are generally 24 pages long, and to keep them from disappearing, Japan surprisingly has annual awards for “Best Movie Pamphlet of the Year”! So, if you ever watch a film in Japan and get such a pamphlet, you can keep it as a precious life long souvenir!	x

L12 - 26	Commuting to work	rare sight to witness in Japan's rush hours usually in the metropolitans like Tokyo, Osaka etc. Japan is known for its punctuality and even a slight delay of seconds can cause a frenzy. So, to keep up with the fixed and packed daily schedule of individuals, Japan got the idea from the New York city's train situation from over a century ago, to have people be pushed into trains before the doors close. This practice of "pushing people inside the trains" started due to the fact that people needed to take specific timed trains in order to not get late for their work-places.
入門 L13 - 29	交通機関の利用の仕方 Taking public transport	Even though it is not mentioned, after swiping your card or getting the ticket checked you are only allowed to travel to your destination during a specific time frame. Exceeding the time limit will lead to you having to pay a penalty fee. So, please be careful while using public transportation.	x
入門 L14 - 22	自動販売機 Vending machines	Japan is known as the "自販機の大国" or "Kingdom of vending machines". Statistics show that there are about 2 million vending machines all over Japan, and that every person can have up to 23 vending machines corresponding to them! There are vending machines for Chabacco as well! What is this "Chabacco", you may wonder. Well, it is actually a play on words for the English word "tobacco" and Japanese word cha-baco literally meaning 'tea box'. Since, both of these are such different things yet their pronunciations being so similar in Japanese, this became a fun way of promoting Green Tea from Shizuoka, the place to get the best green tea in Japan. Chabacco is sold in a box similar to that of a tobacco box but they are completely nicotine free as they only contain GREEN TEA! There are many vending machines containing Chabacco at different locations in Japan, so on your next visit do try to find them!	x

初級2 L7 - 24	花火大会 Fireworks shows	You may hear Japanese people shouting “Tamaya!” and “Kagiya!” during fireworks displays. They actually were the names of famous Edo-era firework makers, and shouting their names is a way of appreciating them for the beautiful work they have done.	x
初級2 L15 - 19	ごみの分別 Separation of trash	The town called Kamikatsu in Tokushima prefecture has declared itself to have the aim of becoming the first Zero Waste Town. Since 2003, the town has been using rigorous steps such as having 45 different categories to dispose of waste to make this happen! The Center helps in clearly visualizing the actual cost of each garbage item to allow people to make conscious choices even before buying an item. Also, since separating even the smallest bit of threads into these categories is a very tedious task, people themselves make pre-choices when buying anything.	Garbage Collection Calendar
